After the recent comment by Donald Trump about the reunification of Ireland, it has caused unrest and increased discussion.

I Sasana, bheadh ar an bParlaimint athrú — ag éirí níos lú agus níos sruthlínithe do Shasana féin — agus comhlacht ar leith ag rialú na Ríochta Aontaithe ar bhealach cothrom, bunaithe ar na beartais a shocraíonn na trí thír eile.

A Renewed Union: A Constitutional Framework for a Stronger United Kingdom

CONTENTS

English

Irish (Gaeilge)

Welsh (Cymraeg)

Scottish Gaelic (Gàidhlig)

This paper proposes a comprehensive constitutional settlement designed to strengthen the United Kingdom while ensuring that Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland, and England each possess meaningful autonomy, dignity, and democratic security. It addresses long-standing structural imbalances, rebuilds trust between nations, and establishes a modern, stable, and equitable union for the twenty-first century. The proposals herein are grounded in principles of partnership, consent, transparency, and shared prosperity.

Introduction: The Need for Renewal

The United Kingdom faces a moment of constitutional strain. Divergent political cultures, uneven power distribution, and historical grievances have created conditions in which several nations question the value of continued union. This paper argues that the UK can remain intact — and become stronger — through a rebalanced constitutional framework that recognises each nation as an equal partner. The goal is not to preserve the union through inertia, but to rebuild it through fairness, clarity, and mutual respect.

A Federal Structure for a Modern Union

Each nation governs its domestic affairs

In a renewed federal union, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland, and England would each possess full authority over their domestic matters. This means that decisions relating to health, education, housing, transport, policing (where applicable), and local economic development would be made entirely within each nation's own parliament. Such autonomy ensures that policies reflect local needs, cultures, and priorities rather than being shaped by the political climate of another nation. It also strengthens democratic accountability, as citizens can clearly identify which government is responsible for domestic outcomes.

The federal government governs shared interests

A federal government would be responsible only for matters that genuinely require UK-wide coordination. These include defence, foreign policy, currency, macroeconomic stability, and major cross-border infrastructure. By limiting the federal government to shared interests, the union becomes more efficient and less prone to political tension. Each nation retains control over its internal affairs while benefiting from collective strength in areas where unity is essential.

Powers are constitutionally protected and cannot be unilaterally altered

A key weakness of the current devolution model is that powers granted to nations can be modified or withdrawn by the UK Parliament. In a federal system, national powers would be constitutionally protected, meaning they cannot be changed without the explicit consent of the nation concerned. This protection provides long-term stability, prevents political overreach, and reassures each nation that its autonomy is secure.

Exclusive National Powers

Health and social care

Each nation would have full control over its health and social care systems, allowing them to design services that reflect local demographics, cultural expectations, and public health priorities. This autonomy ensures that healthcare provision is responsive and tailored, rather than constrained by UK-wide policies that may not suit regional needs.

Education and culture

Education systems and cultural policies would be entirely under national control. This allows nations to shape curricula, support cultural institutions, and promote languages and traditions that reflect their identity. It also ensures that educational strategies align with local economic and social goals.

Housing and local transport

Housing policy and local transport infrastructure would be managed by each nation, enabling targeted responses to regional challenges such as affordability, rural connectivity, and urban development. National control ensures that investment is directed where it is most needed.

Policing and justice (where applicable)

Where devolved, policing and justice systems would be fully controlled by national governments. This allows nations to develop legal frameworks and policing strategies that reflect local values and priorities, enhancing public trust and effectiveness.

Most taxation and economic development

Nations would gain authority over most forms of taxation and economic development. This empowers them to design fiscal policies that support local industries, encourage investment, and address regional inequalities. It also strengthens accountability by linking taxation directly to national decision-making.

Federal Powers

Defence and national security

Defence and national security would remain federal responsibilities, ensuring coordinated protection across all nations. A shared defence structure provides stability, reduces duplication, and maintains the UK's global security commitments. Nations would participate in strategic decision-making through formal consultation mechanisms.

Foreign policy and international treaties

Foreign policy would be managed at the federal level, with each nation contributing to the development of international strategy. This ensures that the UK speaks with one voice abroad while respecting the perspectives of all nations. Treaties would require consultation with national governments to ensure alignment with local interests.

Currency and macroeconomic stability

The federal government would oversee currency and macroeconomic stability, ensuring consistent financial policy across the union. This prevents fragmentation of monetary systems and maintains economic confidence. National governments would retain control over local economic development within this stable framework.

Major cross-border infrastructure

Infrastructure projects that span multiple nations — such as rail networks, energy grids, and digital systems — would be coordinated federally. This ensures efficiency, avoids duplication, and guarantees that all nations benefit from shared investment.

Federal-level standards for trade and regulation

To maintain a functioning internal market, the federal government would set baseline standards for trade and regulation. Nations could exceed these standards but not fall below them, ensuring fairness and consistency across the union.

An English Parliament and Balanced Governance

Establish a Parliament of England for domestic English matters

England would gain its own parliament responsible for domestic policy, ending the dual role of the UK Parliament. This reform ensures that English issues are debated and decided within England, reducing confusion and strengthening democratic accountability.

Redefine the UK Parliament as a Federal Parliament responsible only for federal issues

The UK Parliament would become a federal institution focused solely on shared matters. This prevents English domestic politics from dominating UK-wide decisions and creates parity between nations.

A Senate of the Nations and Regions

Review federal legislation

The Senate would scrutinise federal laws to ensure they respect national interests and constitutional principles. This provides a balanced, democratic check on federal power.

Protect national interests through a structured negotiation process

If legislation threatens a nation's autonomy or interests, the Senate can require negotiation and amendment. This ensures that federal decisions are collaborative rather than imposed.

Approve constitutional amendments through a “double consent” mechanism

Constitutional changes would require approval from both the Federal Parliament and the Senate. This prevents unilateral alteration of the union's structure and protects national rights.

A majority in the Federal Parliament

Federal-level approval ensures that changes reflect the will of the UK as a whole.

A majority in the Senate of Nations and Regions

Senate approval ensures that changes respect the interests of all nations, regardless of population size.

A Fair and Transparent Fiscal Settlement

A Federal Fiscal Framework with transparent rules for revenue and expenditure

A clear fiscal framework ensures that financial arrangements are fair, predictable, and free from political manipulation. Transparency builds trust between nations.

National tax autonomy

Nations would set and collect most taxes, allowing them to design fiscal policies that support local priorities. This strengthens accountability and economic flexibility.

Shared investment funds for infrastructure, green energy, and digital development

Federal investment funds support major projects that benefit all nations. These funds ensure that development is balanced and forward-looking.

A Federal Stabilisation Mechanism

This mechanism provides financial support during economic shocks, ensuring stability across the union. It prevents crises from disproportionately affecting individual nations.

An Independent Fiscal Council

A neutral fiscal council publishes impartial reports on financial flows, ensuring transparency and fairness. This reduces political tension and strengthens trust.

A Culture of Consent and Cooperation

No major federal decision affecting a nation may proceed without its explicit consent

Consent conventions ensure that nations cannot be overruled on matters affecting their autonomy. This principle strengthens trust and prevents constitutional conflict.

Regular, formalised intergovernmental meetings

Leaders from all nations meet regularly to discuss shared challenges. Published agendas and outcomes ensure transparency and accountability.

Identity, Language, and Cultural Recognition

Equal national representation in federal institutions

All nations must be represented equally in federal bodies, ensuring fairness and dignity.

Strong support for Welsh, Irish, and Scottish Gaelic languages

Language support strengthens cultural identity and ensures that linguistic heritage is preserved.

National days recognised across the UK

Recognising national days promotes mutual respect and shared celebration.

Cultural institutions restructured to ensure national parity

Institutions must reflect all nations equally, ensuring that cultural identity is valued.

Federal branding that reflects all four nations equally

Branding should represent the union as a partnership of equals, strengthening shared identity.

Benefits for All Nations

England: Clear governance through its own parliament

England gains clarity and accountability through its own legislature.

England: Reduced political tension with other nations

A federal structure reduces friction and strengthens cooperation.

England retains global influence through a strong, modern union.

Scotland gains secure control over its internal affairs.

Conclusion: A Union of Equals

This paper proposes a transformation of the United Kingdom into a federal partnership of four self-governing nations, united by shared interests and mutual respect. Through constitutional clarity, fiscal fairness, and cultural recognition, the UK can remain intact — not through force or habit, but through genuine consent.

A stronger union is possible. A fairer union is necessary. A renewed union is within reach.

Leagann an páipéar seo amach socrú bunreachtúil cuimsitheach atá dírithe ar an Ríocht Aontaithe a neartú agus a chinntiú go bhfuil uathriail shuntasach, dínit agus slándáil dhaonlathach ag Albain, an Bhreatain Bheag, Tuaisceart Éireann agus Sasana araon. Téann sé i ngleic le héagothromaíochtaí struchtúracha a mhair le fada, atógann sé muinín idir na náisiúin, agus bunaíonn sé aontas nua-aimseartha, cobhsaí agus cothrom don aonú haois is fiche. Tha am pàipear seo a' cur an cèill rèite bun-reachdail coileanta air a dhealbhadh gus an Rìoghachd Aonaichte a neartachadh agus gus dèanamh cinnteach gu bheil fèin-riaghladh cudromach, urram agus tèarainteachd dheamocratach aig Alba, a' Chuimrigh, Èirinn a Tuath agus Sasainn. Tha e a' dèiligeadh ri mì-chothroman structarail fad-ùine, ag ath-thogail earbsa eadar na dùthchannan, agus a' stèidheachadh aonadh ùr-nodha, seasmhach agus cothromach airson an 21mh linn. Tha na molaidhean seo stèidhichte air prionnsabalan com-pàirteachais, cead, follaiseachd agus soirbheas co-roinnte.

An t-Iarrtas airson Ath-nuadhachadh

Tha an Rìoghachd Aonaichte aig àm de dh'fhiùghantas bun-reachdail. Tha diofar chultaran poileataigeach, sgaoileadh neo-chothromach cumhachd agus gearanan eachdraidheil air suidheachaidhean a chruthachadh far a bheil grunn dhùthchannan a' cur ceist air luach an aonaidh. Tha am pàipear seo ag argamaid gum faod an RA fuireach slàn — agus nas làidire — tro fhrèam bun-reachdail cothromach a tha ag aithneachadh gach dùthaich mar chom-pàirtiche co-ionann. Chan e amas an seo an t-aonadh a ghleidheadh tro thàmh, ach a ath-thogail tro chothromachd, soilleireachd agus urram.

Structar Feadarail airson Aonadh Ùr-nodha

Tha gach dùthaich a' riaghladh a cùisean dachaigheil fhèin

Ann an aonadh feadarail ùr, bhiodh ùghdarras slàn aig Alba, a' Chuimrigh, Èirinn a Tuath agus Sasainn thairis air na cùisean dachaigheil aca. Tha seo a' ciallachadh gum biodh co-dhùnaidhean mu shlàinte, foghlam, taigheadas, còmh dhail ionadail, poileasachd (far a bheil e iomchaidh) agus leasachadh eaconamach ionadail air an dèanamh gu tur le pàrlamaid gach dùthcha. Tha seo a' dèanamh cinnteach gu bheil poileasaidhean a' freagairt ri feumalachdan ionadail seach a bhith fo bhuaidh poileataigs dùthaich eile.

Tha an riaghaltas feadarail a' riaghladh ùidhean co-roinnte

Bhiodh an riaghaltas feadarail an urra ri cùisean a dh'fheumas co-òrdanachadh air feadh na RA, leithid dìon, poileasaidh cèin, airgead, seasmhachd macro-eaconamach agus bun-structar thar-chrìochan. Le bhith a' cuingealachadh cumhachd feadarail ri raointean co-roinnte, bidh an t-aonadh nas èifeachdaiche agus nas lugha de theannas poileataigeach.

Tha cumhachdan air an dìon gu bun-reachdail

Bhiodh cumhachdan nàiseanta air an dìon gu bun-reachdail, a' ciallachadh nach gabh an atharrachadh gun chead soilleir bhon dùthaich air a bheil iad a' buntainn. Tha seo a' toirt seasmhachd fad-ùine agus a' cur casg air cus-smachd poileataigeach.

Cumhachdan Nàiseanta Eisiach

Slàinte agus cùram sòisealta

Foghlam agus cultar

Bhiodh gach dùthaich a' cruthachadh an t-siostam foghlaim agus am poileasaidh cultair fhèin, a' neartachadh dearbh-aithne agus amasan ionadail.

Taigheadas agus còmhhdail ionadail

Tha smachd nàiseanta air taigheadas agus còmhhdail ionadail a' dèanamh cinnteach gu bheil dùbhlain roinneil air an dèiligeadh gu h-èifeachdach agus gu sònraichte.

Le smachd slàn air siostaman poileasachd agus ceartais, faodaidh dùthchannan ro-innleachdan a leasachadh a tha a' freagairt ri luachan ionadail.

A' mhòr-chuid de chìsean agus leasachadh eaconamach

Pàrlamaid Shasainn agus Riaghladh Cothromach

Pàrlamaid Shasainn a stèidheachadh

Bhiodh Pàrlamaid Shasainn an urra ri cùisean dachaigheil Shasainn, a' cruthachadh soilleireachd agus uallach.

Pàrlamaid na RA ath-mhìneachadh mar Phàrlamaid Fheadarail

Bhiodh Pàrlamaid na RA a' cuimseachadh air cùisean co-roinnte a-mhàin, a' lùghdachadh teannas eadar dùthchannan.

Seanadh nan Dùthchannan agus nan Roinnean

Ma tha lagh a' bagairt ùidhean dùthcha, faodaidh an Seanadh atharrachadh agus còmhraidh iarraidh.

Atharrachaidhean bun-reachdail tro “chead dùbailte”

Feumaidh atharrachaidhean bun-reachdail cead bho Phàrlamaid Fheadarail agus bhon t-Seanadh.

A’ mhòr-chuid anns a’ Phàrlamaid Fheadarail

Tha seo a’ dèanamh cinnteach gu bheil atharrachaidhean a’ riochdachadh toil na RA gu lèir.

A’ mhòr-chuid anns an t-Seanadh

Tha seo a’ dèanamh cinnteach gu bheil ùidhean gach dùthcha air an urramachadh.
